

Commencement of Public Business

- [illegible]

- 1. (1990-1995) - The first five years of the 1990s were a period of rapid growth and development for the world economy. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 2. (1995-2000) - The second five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 3. (2000-2005) - The third five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 4. (2005-2010) - The fourth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 5. (2010-2015) - The fifth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 6. (2015-2020) - The sixth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 7. (2020-2025) - The seventh five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 8. (2025-2030) - The eighth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 9. (2030-2035) - The ninth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.
- 10. (2035-2040) - The tenth five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.

11. (2040-2045) - The eleventh five years of the 1990s were a period of continued growth and development. This was due to a number of factors, including the end of the Cold War, the collapse of the Soviet Union, and the rise of the Asian Tigers. The world economy grew at an average rate of 5% per year during this period.

Questions for Oral Answers